

Case Study

Octopus Investments

I joined Octopus about 10 months ago, and while I'd spent my career working in large financial services businesses, I'd never worked with an external party that supported our literature and event needs before. It has exceeded all of my expectations! During my first order, the team held my hand from enquiry through to delivery, with helpful proactive updates to ensure I was always fully in the loop with the tracking of my order. The team even nudged me to consider if I needed collection and the use of the online Marketing Store is intuitive and simple.

When events have inevitably changed during the pandemic, the team have once again been on hand to change orders and locations at the last minute and do it all with a friendly and helpful approach.

I couldn't speak more highly of my experience of working with Perivan! A special mention to Diane and Sophie for all their support!
